Welcome!

Thank you for being here this evening! We're so excited to be together in person again this year, celebrating with you all at CHS Field.

Whether you're already a supporter of Guild or meeting us for the first time —know this: Your presence here tonight helps save lives. Guild works directly with people experiencing mental illness and/or homelessness in our communities by providing intensive support that is person-centered and holistic. Our intervention services help people stabilize their health, secure employment, and/or find affordable housing while avoiding hospitalization and relapse.

I encourage you to listen closely tonight to Jen's story about her sister, Christine, who lives with bipolar 2 disorder, having received a diagnosis after a series of otherwise-inexplicable life events. Jen and her family's support of Christine is what every individual deserves, but not everyone has. And families need support, too. Guild is here to support individuals and families on their journey to recovery, combining community mental health treatment and supportive services to help individuals we serve reach the highest quality of life.

Thank you for being here tonight. We look forward to celebrating progress with you and looking ahead to the work to come!

Gratefully,

Julie Bluhm
